White Plains, N.Y., Oct. 12.—Helen Louise Watson, the trained nurse who is under indictment for first degree grand larceny and has confessed to the crime, was before Judge Platt yesterday afternoon for sentence, but at the instance of her counsel, Maurice Zuckert, she was remanded until October 15. Mr. Zuckert said he expected to present letters from physicians to show that the girl under proper environment would change her way. way. Miss Watson is only 24 years old, and has already served two terms for shoplifting. She is pretty, an accomplished musician, is well educated and comes from a good family in Chicago. At one time she was night paperintendent of the Long Island City Hospital. Her attorney says she is a kleptomaniac, and stole after coming from long periods of hard work. Girl, Who made $10,000 a Year, May Get Light Sentence.

New York, Oct. 12.—If Rose Seindel will tell what she has done with $150,000 she had a month ago, and disclose the whereabouts of all her iewels, picture and other works of art. Supreme Court Justice Blanchard will consider a plea for clemency when he imposes sentence upon her for forgery.

The Seindel woman, who was the head of a manufacturing concern, pleaded guilty on Monday to forgery in the second degree. An investigation showed she had made more than $10,000 a year through forgeries which were so numerous that she kept a card index of them.

"What has become of this $150,000 you had a month ago?" the court asked her yesterday afternoon. The prisoner replied that her books would show, but the receiver of the company declared that such was not the case. Coursel for the prisoner promised that a complete disclosure would be made and sentence was postponed.
